CIN Legal Data Services News Release:

CIN Legal Data Services Adds Tax Transcript Summary & Private Labeled Web Application Pages to Bankruptcy Due Diligence Offering...

Continuing its recent wave of new product and new feature development, CIN Legal Data Services, a division of Credit Infonet Inc., has announced the release of its Tax Transcript Summary Report, as well as the release of Private-Labeled Application Pages for its base of bankruptcy due diligence & compliance customers.

Dayton, OH, April 17, 2007 -- CIN Legal Data Services, a division of Credit Infonet Inc., has announced the release of two new bankruptcy due diligence product and application features for use by bankruptcy professionals nationwide. CIN Legal Data Services has released an innovative Tax Transcript Summary feature that supplements its existing tax transcript acquisition service. While recognizing that full IRS Tax Transcripts are required in preparing a consumer bankruptcy case, CIN Legal Data Services understands that the consolidation of key tax return data into an easy-to-read summary would save valuable attorney and staff review time and further streamline the bankruptcy due diligence process. Responding to this need, CIN Legal Data Services has developed the Tax Transcript Summary, a simplified one-page summary of key tax data as acquired from a consumer's IRS Tax Transcripts. As a result, clients of CIN Legal Data Services will now receive the Tax Transcript Summary Report providing aggregated Income, Exemption, Refund and Filing data for all requested years within an easy-to-read one-page format whenever full copies of a client's Tax Transcripts are ordered.

CIN Legal Data Services has also announced the release of Private-Labeled Application Pages for its base of consumer bankruptcy professionals. Via CIN Online™, the company's web-based application platform, an attorney's clients can access all due diligence products ordered by their attorney for use in the preparation of their bankruptcy cases. This platform provides a consumer contemplating bankruptcy with easy access to the key data elements that will be utilized in the filing. Via the newly released Private-Labeled Application Pages, the CIN Online™ application that presents information to an attorney's clients can now be customized to display the firm's name, logos, and contact information. Further, customization of the application login pages is also available.

Both of these enhancements are available free of charge to all clients of CIN Legal Data Services. Both features represent the company's desire to continue to innovate in the areas of product development and process improvement. Commenting on this release, Lee Midkiff, CIN Legal Data Services Chief Operating Officer said, "We are pleased to release these exciting new product enhancements. Our Tax Transcript Summary Report will inevitably save our attorneys valuable time when reviewing key information acquired from their clients' tax transcripts. Furthermore, the release of our Private-Labeled Application Pages provides customers with another method of building their organization's brand awareness and solidifying their value proposition with clients."

Both CIN Legal Data Services' Tax Transcript Summary Report and Private-Labeled Application Pages are now available to all clients free of charge. These new feature releases follow the company's previously announced 2007 application enhancements that include a newly designed Consumer Liability Report (CLR), the addition of bankruptcy specific creditor addresses, alternative automobile redemption and replacement ordering methods, online accounting & statement retrieval, a document storage utility, and the release of a Spanish version of the company's Consumer Liability Report.
