Note: The Information on this tradeline is fictitious and used for example purposes only.

1. Account Details:

The Name field is the creditor's name as reported by the national credit bureaus. Ownership Type displays if the account is individual or joint, as well as the debtors relationship to the liability. Account contains the actual account number reported for the tradeline, hashed out for privacy. Status displays the most current status reported by the national credit bureaus, examples include Open, Current / Open, Collection / Closed, Purchased By Another Lender. Followed by the Credit Loan Type which describes the nature of the loan. For a collection account, when the creditor provides original creditor information to the national credit bureaus, it will be listed in this section under Original Creditor.

2. Balance Details:

The last reported balance provided to the national credit bureaus will be displayed as Current. High Credit is the highest balance ever reported throughout the tradeline's lifetime.

3. Account Dates:

Date Opened is the date the account was opened. Last Reported is the date the tradeline was last reported to the bureaus. Last Activity is the last time any activity occurred on the account. That activity covers a wide range and includes transactions, payments, and disputes.

4. Payment Details:

The expected regular payment due each month is listed as Monthly. Past Due is the amount the tradeline is past due as of the last reported date. Pay History displays the monthly payment history for that account. The number of months may vary from tradeline to tradeline. Each month is represented by a letter or number. The far left digit represents the most current reported month. C = Paid as agreed, 1 = 30 days past due, 2 = 60 days past due, 3 = 90 days past due, 4 = 120 days past due, 5 = 150 days past due, 6 = 180 days past due, 8 = Repossession, 9 = Collection, - = No history.

5. Bankruptcy-Specific Address:

Creditor contact address obtained by CIN Legal Data Services through telephone contact with creditor. "Verified" indicates the month and year CIN last updated the address. Please note, BAPCPA language regarding the noticing of creditors may dictate the use of a different address. CIN MAKES NO GUARANTEE OR WARRANTY REGARDING THE ACCURACY OF THE BANKRUPTCY SPECIFIC ADDRESSES OR THEIR FITNESS FOR ANY PARTICULAR USE.

6. National Credit Bureau Reported Address:

Creditor contact address provided by the national credit bureaus. Please note, BAPCPA language regarding the noticing of creditors may dictate the use of a different address.

7. Owner* & Source:

Owner is populated with the responsible party reported by the bureau for each tradeline. Source is the bureau that has provided CIN Legal Data Services with information for the tradeline, abbreviated as follows: TU = TransUnion, EQ = Equifax, EX = Experian). If supplemental information was provided by LexisNexis, it will be also be listed in the Source field abbreviated as LN.

* Owner only applies to Joint reports

CREDIT REPORT NOTICES AND DISCLOSURES:

The Fair Credit Reporting Act ("FCRA", codified at 15 U.S.C. §1681 et. seq.) places no restrictions on how a consumer may utilize or share his/her own credit report that is ordered at his/her written instructions. In addition, the FCRA provides that anyone who knowingly and willfully obtains information under false pretenses shall be fined under Title 18, or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both.

Note: All information in this report sample is fictitious and used for example purposes only. Source represents who reported the specific account. After thirty (30) days, the import function will no longer be available for this credit report.

ENDNOTES:

¹The Credit Score Analysis, powered by CreditXpert, simulates changes to the credit file to calculate the potential score impact of a Chapter 7 bankruptcy filing. It simulates filing the Chapter 7 bankruptcy immediately, followed 3 months later by discharge of all debt other than student loans and mortgages. It also simulates opening a revolving credit card with a $500 credit limit 2 months after discharge, and then maintaining a balance of $300 on that card for 10 months. The final score is calculated 15 months from now (one year after the bankruptcy discharge). myHorizon assumes that monthly payments will be made on time for mortgages and student loans, and that zero-balance credit accounts will be closed by creditors at the time of discharge. Accounts last reported 4 or more months ago are not included in the bankruptcy filing unless they are derogatory accounts. ² Content appearing in the "8-Year Supplemental National Bankruptcy Search" and the "Liens/Judgments Search" sections are not provided by "Consumer Reporting Agencies" as that term is defined in the FCRA.

³ Judgments, liens and other public records appearing in the "Public Records" section are being reported by the national credit bureaus accessed in compiling this credit report.

DISCLOSURES FROM CIN AND EXPERIAN: The Fair Credit Reporting Act allows you to obtain a disclosure from every credit reporting agency of the nature and substance of all information in your file at the time of the request. Full disclosure of information in your file at Experian must be obtained directly from Experian by calling 888-397-3742 or logging on to www.experian.com/consumer. This credit report you are receiving from CIN is not intended to constitute the disclosure of Experian information required by the Fair Credit Reporting Act or similar state laws. You are entitled to receive a disclosure directly from the consumer reporting agency free of charge under the following circumstances: a. You have been denied credit, insurance or employment within the past sixty (60) days as a result of your credit report; b. You certify in writing that you are unemployed and intend to apply for employment in the 60-day period beginning on the date on which you made the certification; c. You are a recipient of public welfare assistance; d. You have reason to believe that your file at the agency contains inaccurate information due to fraud; and e. annually at www.annualcreditreport.com. Otherwise, the consumer reporting agency may impose a reasonable charge for the disclosure. The Fair Credit Reporting Act permits you to dispute inaccurate or incomplete information in your credit file. You understand that accurate information cannot be changed. You do not have to purchase your credit report or other information from CIN to dispute inaccurate or incomplete information in your Experian file or to receive a copy of my Experian consumer credit report. Experian's National Consumer Assistance Center provides a proprietary consumer disclosure that is different from the consumer credit report provided by CIN. The disclosure report must be obtained directly from Experian. Consumers residing in the States of Colorado, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, and Vermont may receive a free copy of their consumer credit report once per year and residents of the State of Georgia may receive two copies per year. Fraud Alerts are available to any eligible consumers—free of charge—from a national consumer reporting agency.

STATE LAW NOTICES. You may be entitled to additional fair credit reporting rights under State Law. You may visit www.cingroup.com/legal/fcra for a listing of States' Notices of Consumers' Rights.

FEDERAL FCRA NOTICE. Para información en español, visite www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore o escribe a la Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington DC 20552.

A Summary of Your Rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under the FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment - or to take another adverse action against you - must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your "file disclosure"). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
 - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
 - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
 - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
 - you are on public assistance; and/or
 - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.
- In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.
- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need -- usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.
- You may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited "prescreened" offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt-out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-567-8688.
- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.
- States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General.
